About ALT

the Association for Learning Technology

The Association for Learning Technology (ALT) is a professional and scholarly organisation dedicated to spreading good practice in the use and development of learning technology.

We bring together and support organisations and individuals who use, create, research into or develop technology as an aid to effective teaching, learning and assessment. We also draw on our members' expertise to influence policy and to respond to national issues in the learning technology arena.

http://www.alt.ac.uk

Join ALT

Membership of ALT is open to individuals and organisations and provides a range of benefits designed to meet the needs of a rapidly expanding and diversifying community.
If you or your organisation would like to become a member of ALT download an application form at http://www.alt.ac.uk or contact us for an information pack.

- Individual Membership fees start from £49 annually.
- Organisational Membership fees range from £296 - £976 depending on size.
- If you are interested in further supporting our work please consider becoming a Sponsoring Member which costs £1,276 annually.

CMALT

Certified Membership of the Association for Learning Technology (CMALT) is our portfolio-based professional accreditation scheme. We developed CMALT to enable people to have their experience and capabilities certified by peers, and to demonstrate that they are taking a committed and serious approach to their professional development.

CMALT holders are learning technology practitioners, teachers and researchers from across the educational and commercial sectors.

Online resources

- Book events, access latest news and find a wealth of information about ALT at http://www.alt.ac.uk.

- Access ALT News online http://newsletter.alt.ac.uk.

- Access and contribute content to the ALT Open Access Repository http://repository.alt.ac.uk.

- Attend webinars, online events and participate at events remotely http://www.alt.ac.uk/events.

- Get more information about and register for CMALT http://www.alt.ac.uk/cmalt.html.

Contact us

Association for Learning Technology
Gipsy Lane
Headington
Oxford
OX3 0BP, UK

Phone : +44 (0)1865 484 125
Fax: +44 (0)1865 484 165

admin@alt.ac.uk
http://www.alt.ac.uk

Registered Charity no. 1063519

Welcome to the ALT Community

You don't have to be called a learning technologist to be one - indeed you are welcome to join the ALT community whatever your level of skill, expertise or experience.

Our members currently include approximately 650 individuals and around 250 organisational and sponsoring members (including universities, colleges, commercial organisations, and Government departments and agencies).

Networking

Workshops & Webinars

News Digest

ALT Journal
Research in Learning Technology

Open Access Repository

Sponsorship

ALT

ALT News Online

Events & Conferences

ALT Conference

Policy Responses

Special Interest Groups

ALT Update

CMALT Certified Membership

Membership

ALT Members:

- are part of a community of like-minded practitioners and organisations working at the forefront of learning technology;

- share and exchange information and ideas of direct use in their job role and to their organisation;

- have opportunities for professional development and to network and collaborate regionally and nationally;

- keep up to date with news and developments - in creative approaches to the use of technology, new software and methods, national policy, research, funding and job opportunities;

- are entitled to take part in ALT activities and to use ALT's services at reduced rates.

Get more involved

For example as an ALT member you can:

- respond to our open calls for people to join our operational committees (Further Education, Membership Services, Publications, and Research), or the ALT-C Programme Committee, or the Editorial Board of the ALT Journal;

- stand for election as a Trustee of ALT;

- volunteer to help in the production of our policy consultation responses.